about me

My goal is to develop myself and keep growing as a digital media professional. I enjoy being challenged and I like to be involved in different areas of a project.

I consider myself talented to manage customer relations and to lead teams. But above all, I love to have an important participation in the creative and planning process of a project.

I'm looking forward to keep learning through experience, teamwork, and feedbacks.

I enjoy working with people that are open to different ways of thinking, inclusive and tolerant; people that care about the well-being of their team members.
